THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

At Friday's meeting of directors and landowners of the Nevada Irrigation District we were glad to note a strong rally of substantial and conservative members to the support not only of Williamh brow, the manager, but of the district itself. Among those who remembered the long and faithful service of William Durbrow in the work of rehabilitating an irrigation district, which, when he took charge was near collapse, were Judge George L. Jones of Nevada City, John Livingston and John B. Francis of Placer County, and numerous large landowners in the big domain the district serves with water.

As usual in such cases, the dissident elements were most vocal. As usual there as inuendo and unsubstantiated attack, with no disposition on the part of the very apparent minority to back up their complaint with facts. As we see it the attacks came from near the perimeter of the district where expansion of water facilities has not been as rapid as some land speculators would like.

Of all the constructive suggestions offered we think that of Mr. Francis was the most constructive from the long range standpoint of the land owners. He suggested, in effect, that the district do as many corporations engaged in merchandising or manufacturing do when the time for retirement of its managing director, manager, or manager--vice-president, approaches. That is put in a rigorous and younger assistant to take over the reiogns when the time comes that it must be done in the best interest of all the stock holders.

Judge Jones, in our opinion, gave the malcontents a deserved rebuke on their disregard of the devoted services of William Dunbrow over a long term of years, which had saved the district from the collapse which has overtaken many another irrigation district in California history.

On the whole the meeting Friday was more orderly, more conciliatory and temperate, and the discussion not only included the responsibilities of the manager, but those of the board. Several speakers voiced the opinion that the directors should take a more active part in managing the vast affairs of the district, and receive more salary. At present they are paid $8 per meeting.

Other water users expressed the fear that the board of directors might go far and fare much worse, in finding a man of Mr. Durbrow's character and ability to fill the managership. Whatever his present salary, which did not come up for discussion, some of the speakers were afraid they would be unable to find a man with engineering degrees and experience and at the same time, administrative talen equal to those of the present manager.

This chilling thought probably motivated the action of the directors in adopting a resolution to interview each candidate for the job personally before coming to any decision, and in not promising to employ any of the applicants. The board has veered from its former position of quickly filling the vacancy caused by Mr. Durbrow's desire to retire to one of cautious, careful scrutiny of all candidates, in order to select a man of outstanding ability, character and integrity, to take Mr. Durbrow's seat. This will be the more difficult for the board to achieve, however, because of the slurs and ugly inuendos hurled at the present manager. Men of high ability and character would hesitate to accept a post in which event a small minority of members were able to create an impression of unfeeling gratitude and scurrilous disregard of the attainments and services of the retiring manager.

It is probably now too late to mend, and in any event, might not have proved an advantage, but we are convinced that if the board at the outset of the loud outcry against the management had put the matter to a vote of all qualified electors of the district, Mr. Durbrow would have been overwhelmingly retained. Whether he would wish to me retained or not, when, as one speaker put it, Friday night, district is most in need of unity, is another matter. As it is, a small minority of the land owners, have only damaged the office which Mr. Durbrow holds, and in that degree their entire district and and their own interest. They have not however, done any permanent injury to the reputation of Mr. Durbrow. His record of accomplishment in expanding and financing this district in the years to come will be mark for many lesser men to shoot at.

PAPER DOLLARS FOR GOLD

By ED C. UREN

"Today one American $20 gold piece will buy 60 American paper dollars in Algiers. As long as that is true, the official declaration that the American dollar is worth as much as one thirty fifth of an ounce of gold will need proof." says Barron's Financial Weekly.

Evidently the outer world is beginning to have considerable doubt as to the real value of the torrential volume of Uncle Sam's printing press money, which has a gold backing of 8 cents on the dollar.

John E. Kelly, in a recent article published in Barrons, says "maintenance of a fictitious gold quotation threatens to precipitate an international monetary crisis and cripple, or halt, our expert trade.

"The fact is that the world beyond our borders has too little gold at 35 an ounce to continue to buy American goods at our present rate of shipment. As the gold and dollar scarcity increases abroad our exports will be prohibited to a degree that will bring about a recession."

Publication of Mr. Kelly's article brought forth a flood of criticism from various readers, but it was obvious that most of these crtics had nothing but the vaguest ideas of the money problem.

A common contention was that if gold were valued upward it would result in enormous inflation. To this Barron's quickly responded that such an idea was entirely false and it referred to the period following the first raise in gold, during which no effects on local prices were apparent

In Washington we are still beset with certain New Deal bureaucrats who do not want balanced currency and who will continue to fight every effort to strengthen our camouflaged dollar because they want to continue the spending spree which is based on the so-called "managed currency."

In reply to criticism of the U. S. News because of the statement that the government had all the gold that it needed and that currency obligations were covered by gold to the extent of 47 per cent, we received tthis reply, which for the most part is simply double talk.

"This is an interesting point in relating the government's holdings of gold to the total amount of the debt and paper currency. On that basis the gold backing of currency and securities is only 8 cents on the dollar. Our story, of course, relatdollar. Our story, of courrse, related only to the ratio of gold to currency and deposits, since these alone require gold backing under the law. So far as the law is concerned therefore, it is correct to point out that the government has more gold than it needs."

As clear as mud, this sounds like the explanation of one of our economists for which Washington is famous. Eastern critics seem to back under the impression that the western gold miner is just waiting around in a red shirt and with a long tom and shovel so that he can cash in at the expense of others with a flood of the yellow metal.

If Britain in her crisis, within the next few months, raises the price of gold as she seems about to do, then we, and all other countries, will have to follow suit, regardless of what our bureaucrats desire.

The Bretton Woods plan froze foreign currency at inflated and fictitious war time levels without considering the fact that gold is the backlog of all world currencies. Regardless of whether Britain is the first to break the $35 fallacy, it seems inevitable that within the next few months, in order to prevent a complete collapse of our export trade, gold must and will be advanced in price. Washington and Camille Gutt of the Monetary Bank are trying to do the impossible when they attempt to exchange an ounce of gold for a piece of paper with 35 printed upon it. Even an Algerian says it takes not one, but three of these, and to this extent in his opinion, has our currency been debased. In other words, an ounce of gold is worth to him 105 U. S. dollars.

CHECKS FOUND IN TRUCKEE LURE MURDER CASE

NEVADA CITY: Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins reported yesterday that $60 in travelers checks had been found Las Vegas, Nev. officers near the wrecked car, Joseph L. Hardy Jr. and his wife, Lois Hunt Hardy, appropriated after their murder of the owner, J. W. McLain of Burbank,, California, near Hirschdale, Nevada County. The checks were sent to Hoskins to become one of the many exhibits in the case.

Both Hardy and his wife wish to correspond with each other, the sheriff stated. Both are studying Bibles. Lois Hardy has been placed in a cell with other women. The sheriff stated she had twice attempted suicide in Las Vegas and he is taking every precation to prevent it.

District Attorney Sheldon said yesterday that the couple have no funds with which to hire an attorney and probably the court would appoint one to defend.

HAPPY DAZE HORSE SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

GRASS VALLEY: The Gold Trail Riders "Fun on Horseback," a show designed for the promotion of riding sports was acclaimed a big success by the estimated crowd of 1000 which lined both sides of the 310 foot arena at Dick Lostetter's "Happy Daze" Ranch at Casey's Corners Sunday.

Approximately 200 riders with their horses participated in the events which were run off in rapid fire order by arena director Ed Granholm. The show was planned so that there were no waiting periods for "something to get going". Grand Marshall for the day was Sheriff Richard Hoskins. Arena Aids, Sam Frost, Mitch Painter and Wes White helped to keep the events moving smoothly. Dick Lostutter "clowned" the show. Gateman was Wayne Wainwright and Timer, Barb Lostutter.

A number of out of town riders and ropers were at the show. Among them was Bill Howard who brought in three matched albino horses and his dark chestnut quarter horse stallion, King Pin. The Auburn Sierra Rangers were represented by J. Irwin of the Golden Horseshoe Ranch near Loomis, and his half arabian palomino stallion. Other stallions who made up a special event in the show was Billy Kahn, palomino quarter horsehorse owned by Bud Kyle and Chefar, registered chestnut aragian owned by Ruth Bowles both of Nevada City. Several ropers came from Cool, California and a group from Brown's Valley.

WILL DURBROW'S MANAGEMENT OF NID PRAISED

GRASS VALLEY: Discussion of the man to be chosen to succeed William Durbrow, manager of the Nevada Irrigation District, among land owners and water users of this district, gathered Friday in the James S. Hennessy School auditorim, produced constructive suggestions. A number of land owners who expressed their deep obligation to Durbrow for his successful financial management. Approximately 150 members of the district were present.

The board of directors, with the chairman, Thomas Mulcahy, presiding, first adopted a resolution introduced by J. H. Gleason, who with G. O. Griffith of Placer County, were appointed a committee to select a new manager. The resolution provided that all applicants for the post of manager be interviewed by the board before it comes to a decision.

Among those who offered suggestions regarding management was John B. Francis of Placer County a former director fo the district. He proosed that the board retain Durbrow and hire an assistant manager for a while. He said that was the practice of any large corporation before changing managers. The district has grown to be a large one, he said, and it has grown to be a big job for any one man, no matter how well qualified, to handle alone. Francis declared that the district was indebted to Durbrow, first for securing a reduction of interest on the original bond issue of 5½ to 4 per cent, after which the bond holders themselves voted another reduction of 1 cent, total cut in the rate of 2½ per cent. Second, during the war Durbrow had obtained a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and third, he had succeeded in making new contract with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company under which both the district and the company had benefited.

John Livingston of Auburn, Placer County, banker, and director of an irrigation district, declared that in his district the board did not hire a manager, but employed a superintendent who carried out the directions of the board. He praised both the NID board and Manager Durbrow for the successful work they had done in rehabilitating an irrigation district which had once been near collapse.

Judge George L. Jones, who retired from the Nevada County bench last January, rebuked those who had caused dissension among the landowners of the district. He particularly censured a group who engaged in conversation while Livingston was speaking.

"I am not speaking now," said Judge Jones, "as a lawyer or as a judge. I am speaking as a landowner in this district. There are some here who seem more intent on tearing down than in building up. After the many years of devoted service of Will Durbrow, whom I have known for 50 years, there are those who seek to belittle his great achievement for the land owners in Nevada and Placer County. His character is attacked by indirection and inuendo." A man of his ability and integrity is not to be kicked out of office like a dog."

C. J. Rolfe of Chicago Park gave a brief summary of the financial improvement in the district fiscal condition since Durbrow has been manager. He stated that shortly before Durbrow was placed in charge, the bonds of the district were selling at 15 cents on the dollar, Now the bonds of the district were sell-

The directors stated that it would probably be two weeks before all the applicants for Durbrow's post could be interviewed by the board. The directors did not promise they would choose a manager from the applicants now on their list.

AMERICAN RIVER FIRE THREATENS TO BREAK LOOSE

NEVADA CITY: Efforts of fire-fighting forces of this area were split yesterday when the runaway American River fire made a strong bid for major attention by threatening to break out of its 100 acre area.

Central Fire Despatcher Gordon Vance reported that weather prospects for the huge 7,000 acre Boca fire, biggest in eleven years, were poor. A special U. S. Weather Bureau observer, with on the spot equipment, described conditions as increasingly warm and dry with stronger winds prevailing.

The fire area is divided into four fire zones, and given the treatment and organization that would ordinarily apply to four fires. Ranger Warren Barnes is Chief of Staff for the Boca Camp. Keith MacDonald is coordinator, Robert Dasmann, Joe Ely, F. A. Land and Marvin Shock are Fire Zone bosses.

Vance said that strong support from public-spirited citizens had been a splendid help in combatting the giant fire. Citizens had lent their services, trucks, bull-dozing and tractor equipment.

Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis made a personal inspection trip by plane over the rampant American River fire yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the Boca area fire-fighters totaled 650 laborers and 165 of skilled and supervisory personnel.

Tons of supplies from the Nevada City warehouse have been moved into the fire camp formerly occupied by the CCC at Boca. The supplies consist of tents, stoves, bedding, ovens, groceries, sleeping bags, tools, kitchen equipment, lanterns and miscellaneous material.

Phone Company Gives Details On Increased Rates Here

NEVADA CITY: According to E. R. Ingalls, manager for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., the new rates proposed by the company for Nevada City exchange increase the business individual line service $1.25 from the present rate of $3.25, residence 2-party and 4-party service now $2.75 and $2.25 respectively, .25 and .50 increases each, and residence individual line service increase .50.

Intrastate long distance rates wold be increased chiefly by making the minimum rate 10c and increasing the initial period day station to station rates generally by 5c for distance from 30 to 140 miles, and by adjusting the person to person and night and Sunday station to station rates to bring them into better relationship wih the day station to station rates.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder why humanity
So often fails to hold the heights
And there envision far and near,
Life's golden beacon lights.

I wonder if we shall ever forget those exalted days which followed the second world war. The guns had fallen silent, battle flags were furled, the insensate carnage was at an end. It was a time of high hope, for it seemed that humanity had learned its lesson. The U. N. was being organized in our own city of San Francisco. Faith in the future of humanity was at a high mark. I wrote a poem.

There was a ship with magic sails
That never had been unfurled,
She lay in the harbor of splendid dreams
And her name was Hope of the World.
In her hold were treasures of infinite worth
For the children of men to share,
Peace and justice and brotherhood
And freedom from want and despair.

There were three more stanzas in the same vein and in one of them. I asked, what of her fate in the days to come. I knew that the good ship, Hope of the World, might have a troubled voyage; but I did believe that she would finally reach the harbor of Heart's Desire.

Already he has skirted the Sargasso sea of Inaction, the surging maelstrom of human intolerance, bigotry and wrath; she has braved the Scylla and Charybdis of doubt and fear. Hidden reefs still menace her progress, the sky above is still filled with angry portents, the vapors of distrust and suspicion obscure the sea lanes through which she makes her precarious way. Will she make the harbor of peace?

It is difficult to give up one's faith in the ultimate success of the dream which means so much to all mankind. It is difficult to discard Wendel Willkie's dream of One World, a world of peace. difficult to believe that the nations will let so great a project fail or even meet with tragic delays; but at this time, the signs are not overly auspicious, and sometimes I find myself saying, "not in our time." Still, it may well be that good sense, decency and a measure of justice will prevail and that ultimately, peace will descend upon the stormy seas and the hope of the world will deliver her precious cargoes to her rejoicing inhabitants of a world made free. May we still hope? Remembering the stormy voyages made by our own ship of state, may we still believe?

Cousin Jed says: "I'm trying to bring Uncle Silas' correspondence up to date; one man wrote asking for a 'water sheep;' I couldn't feature that one till a neighbor said, 'that man must mean a hydraulic ram'."—Adeline Merriam Conner.

INSPECT FAN BELT

Occasional inspection of the fan belt on your car for adjustment or replacement is advised by the California State Automobile Association. Oil or grease on the fan belt will cause rapid deterioration.

CLEAN THAT WINDSHIELD

For safety's sake, keep the windshield on your car clean and unobstructed at all times, urges the California State Automobile Association. A clean windshield also eases eyestrain and makes for driving comfort.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

CHAPTER FOUR

NOVEMBER 17, 1850—Pard is all right again, thank the Lord, although not able to work yet. I hired a man to rustle for some chickens and he found three after a two days' hunt. He paid $24 for them and with his horse hire and time they cost me $50, but I don't begrudge it for I made chicken broth and Pard said it went right to the spot. We have had another big storm. It rained three days steady. The grass is coming up, the hillsides are all green and it looks like spring instead of fall. While it is mighty pretty, it isn't like autumn back in old Litchfield where the sumachs and the maples are all ablaze at this time of the year. I worked in the claim alone for three days and cleaned up fourteen ounces. After dividing with Anderson I have got over two thousand dollars on hand and will send it to dad next week. Pard says I would do better to buy land in California, but that's foolishness. The gold will all be dug out after a while, and after that I don't see what there is to stay in this country for.

NOVEMBER 24, 1850—We both worked this week and took out eighty-nine ounces. When I think of how much money I am making it seems like a dream. I user to work for a dollar a day in haying time and our hired man on the farm gets twelve dollars a month and found. The regular miners' wages here are eight dollars a day and very few men will hire out. I sent the two thousand dollars to dad and told him to buy the farm for me, so whatever happens I will have that, but the more I think of it the less I feel like running it. I don't suppose I could make more than five hundred dollars a year off of it at the best, and then have to work four times as hard as I do here, but then this is not going to last always. We caught an Indian cleaning up our riffle box Saturday night. When the miners found out about it they insisted on his being punished and it was decided to tie him up to a tree and give him fifty lashes on the bare back. Nobody would volunteer to do the whipping, so we drew lots and Dick Stiles got the job. He used a double half inch rope but the Indian after the first half-dozen strokes made such a howl that we let him go, although there was not a red mark on his back.

DECEMBER 1, 1850—Although there was nothing to show it, we observed Thursday as Thanksgiving, as that was the legal day in the States. All we did was to lay off and eat quail stew and dried apple pie. I though a lot about the old folks and would like to have been home with them, and I guess I will be next year, although Slocum's farm doesn't seem to be as enticing as it was when I first started out to buy it. Dad writes that Hetty blames me for not looking up her brother, who don't write any letters home. I think she is unreasonable. I didn't take any contract to look out for him and he is as old as I am. Pard and talked it over and he says why not take a holiday and a trip to Sacramento, and then I can decide what to do. We worked four days and cleaned up forty one ounces.

DECEMBER 22, 1850—This is the first I have written in three weeks. I've been to Sacramento. Pard insisted on my going; said that after nursing him through his sickness I needed a rest, so I bought a mustang and saddle, paid sixty dollars for the horse and seventy-five for the saddle and bridle. Sacramento is the liveliest place I ever saw. There are over five thousand people living there, mostly in tents, and not more than a dozen wooden houses in the place. Hundreds of people from San Francisco are coming up the river every day, and the bank is piled up with all sorts of goods and provisions for the mines. About every tent is a gambling house and it made my head swim to see the money flying around. I had a big job hunting up North and then only found him by accident. I was almost sorry that I came across hiim, for I discovered that he had turned sport and was dealing "monte." He pretended to be very glad to see me and then let out that what he wanted the money for was to start a game of his own, sure that he could win a fortune. Gracious, what would Hetty and his folks say if they knew he had become a gambler. He got very chilly when I wouldn't let him have the dust but made me promise that I would not write anything home about it. He is living with a Mexican girl and I don't think they are married.

I thought a lot about Pard while I was away. We were strangers a few months ago, and now I couldn't love an own brother any better. He was just as glad to see me as I was to see hi m,and Jack pretended he was overjoyed. Ths poor old see him and Jack pretended he was overjoyed. The poor old he certainly has a good time. Pard took out of the claim one hundred and twenty two ounces while I was gone and insists on sharing it. He is mighty set when he wants to be.

Jim McCord, who lives about half mile down the creek, was held up by robbers on the divide about a week ago while on his way back from town. He showed fight and one of the highwaymen shot him in the knee, shattering the bone. Dr. Hunt has been attending him and says mortification has set in and his leg will have to be cut off. That's pretty rough on Jim.

The widow who married the young fellow at Selby Flat has shook him and come back to the Flat again. She says he was "no account," but the boys think he was glad to get rid of her.

DECEMBER 29, 1850—We decided to keep the horse, as it would be handy to ride to town and over country. Green feed is plenty, but no oats or grain to be had for love or money. We had to have some feed in case of snow, so Christmas day I rode down to Centerville and found a man who had cut some wild oats in a valley below that town. He wanted two hundred and fifty dollars a ton and fifty dollars more for delivering it on Rock Creek, and I bought it at that figure. That would cause Dad to hold up his hands, but then they don't make thirty dollars a day on an average in old Connecticut.

(Jackson's figures are verified on the authority of one Johnson, who, in 1851, sold him ten tons of hay, which he had cut on a tract of land he had settled on in Penn Valley, at two hundred and fifty dollars a ton, delivered at Rough and Ready, a distance of four miles.)

While at Centerville I hunted up the pretty Frenchwoman. She knew me and asked where I had been and what game I was running. I could hardly make her believe that I was a miner and not a sport. Her pretty French accent was very fascinating. She says she is coming back to Nevada in a little while and then she will ride over to the claim some day. I don't believe she will, but if she does it will cause a sensation on the creek.

The doctor cut off McCord's leg the day before Christmas and he died the next day. We buried him on the hill along side of Donovan. He had one thousand two hundred dollars in dust, which we sent to his wife, who lives in New York City. It was pitiful to hear him mourn about her and his children before he died.

Only worked three days this week and took out fifteen ounces and a half. Our claim is as rich as those over on Brush Creek, and that ground has been considered the best of any around this section. There are lots of miners tramping over the country from one locality to another and we hear stories of the big yield of gold everywhere in the foothills. I have talked with men from Mariposa and Tuolumne Counties who claim to have left ounce diggings because they had heard of better places North, It is strange what a restless, discontented lot of gold seekers roam around from one county to another. They can't make money fast enough at an ounce a day, but are prospecting for some spot where they can take out a bushel or more of gold in a week, and as there have been plenty of such strikes made it keeps them excited and continually on the tramp. I was chatting yesterday with a miner from Mariposa County and he was telling me of the discovery at a camp called Bear Valley that had set the country wild. It seems there are a lot more Mexicans in that part of the state than here and they do a good deal of mining. It was noticed that for a couple of weeks the "greasers" had been very flush, selling lots of dust at the store and playing "monte" for high stakes. Some of the miners put a watch on them and found them panning on a flat about a mile from the town, and they soon found out that the Mexicans had struck the biggest kind of a deposit. It made them mad to think that a lot of "greasers" were getting the benefit of it, so they organized a company and drove them away by threats and force and then worked the ground themselves. Out of a space forty feet square they took out two hundred and ten thousand dollars and that was the end of it; just big pocket of gold mixed in the rocks, specimen gold he said, that is, jagged and rough and not rolled and water worn as the dust is in the creek and ravines. It was an outrage on the Mexicans, but the jumpers justified their action on the ground that California had been ceded to the United States, and that white men had superior rights to the mines. Anyway, they got away with the gold.

JANUARY 5, 1851—Another year and I have been away from the States twelve months. I was desperately homesick for a while, but since Anderson and me became partners I am fairly well reconciled, although at times I long to see the old folks. I have not done so badly, for I have sent father four thousand five hundred dollars, have about a thousand dollars on hand and we have been offered and refused ten thousand dollars for the claim. We will probably work it out in three or four months and then hunt another one. Pard still wants to go to river mining, and maybe we will. We had another big week working up the center of the claim and cleaned up ninety-seven ounces. Our neighbors have finished the ditch and it is over a mile long. We share the water, each using it for one day and as it carries twice as much water as when we first dug it, there is enough to sluice off top dirt and keep us five days cleaning up the gravel and bedrock. Kellogg, of Brush Creek, has started to cut a ditch taking the water out of the creek a mile above us, but we have notified him that he must not interfere with the amount we want in our ditch. We do not propose to allow the water to be taken to another creek to our injury.

JANUARY 12, 1851—It's been raining all the week and the creeks are running bank-full. Over on Deer Creek it drove all the miners out and filled their claims with rocks and gravel. They have struck the richest kind of diggings up on Nigger Hill above Nevada, in deep ground, and they have to coyote to get the dirt. They say that they are making a hundred dollars a day to the man. A dozen Frenchmen own one of the richest of the claims, and a party of roughs drove them out and jumped the ground on the pretext that the Frenchmen were not American citizens and could not legally hold ming claims. There was big evcitement and a miners' meeting called, which decided that the Frenchmen's titles were as good as anybody else's and so the foreigners got the ground again, which shows that we have more regard for other peope's rights than the Mariposa mneirs. We got our hay over last week, but the fellow swore he would not deliver another ton for five hundred dollars. I don't blame him, as there was no road farther than Selby Flat, but we cut away the brush and helped him get through. Selby Flat is getting to be quite a place. Three families, who came across the plains from Missouri and Illinois, have settled there in the last month. One of the "Pikes" has two daughters, so that there are now seven women on the flat and they talk about giving a dance there next week.

Nevada County Long Ago - -

FLOY MARGARET REYNOLDS

20 YEARS AGO

Miss Constance M. Rourke, a writer for the Woman's Home Companion was spending a few days in Rough and Ready gathering material for a series of articles relative to the early history of Nevada County. The articles were to be published in book form.

A very delightful dancing party was held in San Juan at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hilbourne in honor of Miss Mary Foss and Miss Henrietta Brown who were returning to their homes in San Leandro. The evening was spent in old fashioned square dancing. The following evening the townspeople in return had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Hilbourne who were also returning to their home in Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. O'Neill were spending their vacation at the O'Neill estate, accompanied by Mr. O'Neill's niece, Mrs. Lorraine Hill and her two children and Mrs. O'Neill's brother, Alfred Bechdel, engine inspector for the S. P. at Roseville. Mr. O'Neill was a native of Nevada City and was at one time "printer's devil" on the old Transcript.

The following chiefs were inducted into office at the raising of chiefs: Aileen McLaughlin, prophetess; Aline Lewis, Pocahontas; Elsie Dent, Wenonah; George Gildersleeve, Pawhatan; Elma Hecker, keeper of records; Annie Browning, collector of wampum, Ernestine Ellerman, Virginia Penrose, scouts; Marian Flynn, Alice Hawks, runners; Rachel Penrose, Helen Trevethick, Lyle Botting, Nevada Ostrom, warriors; Juanita Trevethick, Lily Day, councilors: Louise Meyers, guard of forest; Isabel Harry, guard of teepee and Leona O'Connor, musician.

50 YEARS AGO

Members of the fire department were planning to hold their annual election of chief engineer and assistant. It was Pennsylvania Engine Company's year to be represented with a chief and Richard Eddy of that company was the nominee for the position. John F. Hook of Nevada Hose Company was the nominee for assistant chief.

Mrs. J. W. Hart took possession of her handsome new residence in Sacramento Street, built for her by Messrs. Conrad and Konkle contractors, who also erected another new house in upper Coyote Street for Mrs. Hart. She was to occupy the Sacramento Street house as her home. Both places added much to the appearance of Nevada City.

William Hoskins had made arrangements for the erection of a fine two story residence on Piety Hill on the lot adjoining the residence of J. E. Rich. Piety Hill in Nevada City was growing rapidly in the number of dwellings and desirable lots in that locality were much sought for by intending builders. It was predicted that in a year or two that part of town would be one of the principal residential sections.

Loud screams of the mother of a young Chinese woman rent the night quiet and awakened the citizens of Chinatown when Ah On, cook at the Central hotel, walked into the Giles building where the object of his addoration, Shon Lea lives in the rear of a laundry and carried her out to a waiting carriage and drove in the direction of Bloomfield. Sheriff Getchell and Officer Kilroy found the couple asleep in a Chinese miners cabin near Edwards Crossing about a mile above the bridge over the South Yuba. They were returned to Nevada City and lodged in jail, charged with kidnapping on complaint of OnGouey, a local storekeeper who was under bond of $1000 to a company in Sacramento for the return of the woman within two years. The company claimed her as their property.

75 YEARS AGO

Notice was given that the election of the chief engineer of the Nevada City fire department was to be held at the city marshall's office. Judges were Charles Sairs, Joseph Olive, Clerks were John Glasson and William Scott. The notice was signed by John F. Hook, president of the board of delegates.

A large delegation of citizens went to the toll house on the Grass Valley road to meet Hon. A. A. Sargent, his wife and son who were arriving home from the east. The distinguished citizen and his family were escorted to the National Hotel where a national salute was fired and the Nevada Brass Band struck up some patriotic tunes.

New Theatre Group To Give Plays In Sacto.

SACRAMENTO: Just as the Sacramento Music Series has brought the worlds finest music to Northern California in the last 14 years, the newly formed California Playgoers will start this year, to bring the best plays. Founded after several years' negotiations by Carolyn Ware and Mabel Hazelton, the Playgoers will bring to Sacramento this next season, a series of five Broadway hits, which may be subscribed to on a seasonal basis.

Starting October 2 and 3 with Charlotte Greenwood in I Remember Mama, the productions which will be seen in Sacramento this season, and from which the five season ticket attractions will be chosen, are as follows.

The Desert Song, October 19; Fatal Weakness, starring Ina Claire, December 5 and 6, Lilliam Hellman's Another Part of the Forest, about the Hubbard family of Little Foxes fame, Januar 16 and 17; Alice in Wonderland, January 23 and 24; the musical Oklahoma, March 14, 15, 16; and All My Sons, Noel Coward's Private Lives with Tallulah Bankhead; Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne in Of Mistress Mine.

Subscriptions for the Playgoers series will insure choice locations for the season and also locations for attractions which will not be on the series of five.

Butte Co. Sheriff Raids One-Armed Bandits

OROVILLE (Butte Co.): Sheriff W. H. Forward reported surprise raids on to country stores in Forest Ranch and Lomo, east of Chico in the Humboldt Road, netted four slot machines late last night.

He said the machines are owned by Tom Matthews of Chico. Three were confiscated in the Forest Ranch store and one machine in Lomo.

Sheriff Forward said the raid was made after he had been advised one of the patrons of the places told a number of other persons the machines were safe "because it is fixed with the sheriff."

One of the auditors happened to be a member of the county grand jury and the sheriff was advised of the incident.

No complaint has been lodged against Matthews as owner of the machines or the proprietors of two stores.

The machines and their contents which total about $60, are held by the sheriff.

Auburn Plans For City Manager Underway

AUBURN: City Councilmen have authorized the city attorney to draw up a sample ordinance covering the selection, employment and duties of a city manager, after a lengthy discussion on the proposal to establish a city manager form of government in Auburn.

This would form the basis for a permanent statute if the council decides to go ahead with the proposal.

The plan for a city manager form of government was originally proposed by Mayor W. H. Boswell and met with approval of the other councilmen.

DIORAMA GOES TO ORLAND

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada County Historical Society will lend to the Glenn County Fair at Orland (Sept. 17), the Donner Party diorama made by Mrs. Coral Foley of Orland, sister in law of Mrs. Doris Foley.

Mrs. Cora Foley originally designed and constructed the diorama.

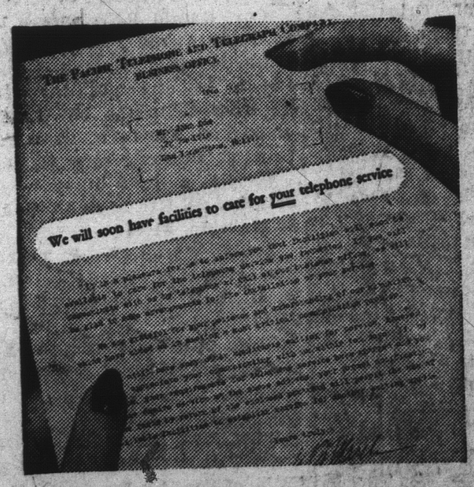
Our favorite letter to you

Starts like this: "We will soon have facilities to care for your telephone service" . . . So far this year we were able to send out these letters to thousands of people—provide 125,000 more telephones for Western homes and businesses. But meanwhile thousands of new orders came in, which await their proper turn.



If you're waiting for such a letter, we want you to know we're speeding this year's record-breaking construction program for the Pacific Coast States . . . new buildings, central office equipment, wires and cables . . . about two hundred million dollars worth of the things needed to bring service to everyone who wants it.

There will still be a delay—in some cases a long delay—before we can take care of all who want telephone service. But we are hurrying the day when our Service Representatives will again be able to promise you a telephone the day you want it. That's our goal . . . and we're working all-out to achieve it.

New Working Dollars . . . Millions of new dollars needed to build buildings and buy new equipment to meet the public demand for more telephones and more service do not come from telephone bills. New dollars come from people who are willing to put their savings into the business. We must earn enough to attract these new working dollars.

Progressive Citizens Postpone Mass Meeting Veterans In County

GRASS VALLEY: The local chapter of Progressive Citizens of America met Tuesday evening at the Bret Harte Inn.

It was agreed to postpone the mass meeting scheduled for September 6. The meeting place, the Veterans Memorial Building, is being repaired. It is expected that the alterations will be completed by September 27, which date is tentatively set for the mass meeting.

Viola E. Stock is secretary.

Veterans' News

July 25, had been established by the United States senate and the president as the final day which would be counted by service men and women as service during World War II in establishing eligibility for important war veterans' benefits.

The Veterans Administration reports that for purposes of education and training, loan guarantees and readjustment allowances under the GI Bill, and for vocational rehabilitation of disabled veterans under Public Law 16, the period considered war service thus becomes Sept. 16, 1940, through July 25, 1947.

Persons entering service after July 25, 1947, will not become eligible for GI Bill benefits and any compensation or pension awarded such veterans and their dependents as a result of their service will be paid at the lower peace time rates, instead of the higher war rates.

In order to be eligible for benefits under the GI Bill a veteran must have served at least 90 days on active duty at any time during the period of Sept. 16, 1940, through July 25, 1947, and subsequently discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

Veterans with less than 90 days service who were discharged for service incurred disabilities are also eligible under Public Law 16.

July 25 also becomes the date from which the following statutory time limitations will be figured:

1 GI Bill education or training must be started within four years of that date or date of discharge, whichever is later, and the program ends in nine years.

2 All Public Law 16 training

CAMPTONVILLE NEWS

By MRS. J. D. RITTENHOUSE

The Camptonville Women's Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Grace Pauly for their regular August meeting. The committee appointed to shop for a fire alarm for the town reported that Acton Cleveland had selected a suitable fire alarm which would soon be installed on the Meek Building and would sound every day at the noon hour. The club voted to pay for the major portion of the alarm from their fire fund established to improve the old fire control system.

The Women's Club will sponsor a carnival across the street from the Meek Mercantile the evening of August 23. In charge of the evening are Mrs. Lou Price, Mrs. Nelson Stone and Mrs. Alvin Molen. There will be a fish pond, bottle wrack game with prizes and fortune telling, among other events, and probably the evening will continue with a street dance.

Mrs. Clifford Williams showed clubwomen some new books she had purchased for the school children and gave an interesting description of their recent trip east which was highlighted by their aisit to Washington, D. C.

Half of the books purchased by the Womens Club for the Camptonville school have arrived and the other half of the books have been ordered, the order supplemented by a contribution from Clifford Williams.

The September meeting of the Women's Club mill be held at the Clarence Hanson home, Mrs. Blanche Moore will be hostess. Mrs. Williams will show colored slides of their trip east.

Parent Teacher Association of Camptonville will hold their first meeting of this term Friday afternoon, August 15, at 2 p. m. at the school house. Mrs. Roy Stoddard is in charge of the meeting and has gathered much interesting material on school lunches. Members are asked to bring their favorite recipe suitable for box lunches and a group discussion will be held.

Recent large forest fires have taken most of the regular crew from the Camptonville ranger station. Clerk-Dispatcher Tom Potter left last Monday for the Tajunga Canyon fire, but when it was brought under control, he was called back to go on the fire near Truckee. Fire Control Assistant Nelson Stone, Fire Crew Foreman Leon Read and his crew men George McClusky and Luther Marsh were sent to Truckee, as well as the road maintenance crew which has been working out of Middaugh Meadows.

During their absence from Camptonville an emergency crew of local men was employed, over the week end. They are as follows: James A. Milner, Jr., Bob D. Shelton, Willis Hanson and Edward Havey, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pfiffer returned from a nine day tour of northern California and Oregon last Friday. They reported a good vacation, spoiled only by cold and windy weather. Their trip took them up the west coast through Florence, Oregon, along the Klamath River and by Crater Lake. All the big mountains they say were topped well with snow. Dick wet his line in a number of streams and reported fishing much better around Camptonville.

Factory and office workers interested in their own safety and security should remember that off the job accidents can cause loss of work just as easily as accidents which occure at work. Lost time is lost, say safety experts of the National Conservation Bureau, no matter where or when accidents occur. Remember, over a third more accidents occur away from the job than while at work.

In thousands of farm homes of the west, as in thousands of city homes, Fuller's Fullerglo is the preferred interior wall finish. Its semi-lustrous, satin-like texture adds beauty to any room in the home. It is particularly popular for kitchens and bathrooms, because it resists humidity, and withstands repeated washing. For all your paint needs, see a Fuller Paint Dealer.
